Description of Services

Rowan is a local Cambridge 'Arts based' charity that has been providing opportunities for adults with learning disabilities for over 25 years.

Rowan provides a safe, creative and unique environment where our students, working alongside artists, can grow creatively as well as in their abilities, confidence and self esteem, these being vital tools for independent living.

Rowan is committed to involve all community members in our project and to promote equality and inclusiveness via the arts.

Creating Art

Led by inspiring artists, our students work in collaboration to produce art pieces of outstanding quality.

Art sales and commissioned pieces provide an essential income for Rowan. We now have an established reputation for producing pieces endowed with distinction and character that have made the Rowan brand a successful competitor in today's commercial market.

Improving Lives

Rowan's art represents a lot of hard work and inspiration. It tells many stories of individual progress and discovery. Above all, it shows what can be achieved when individuals are enabled to exceed the expectations of those around them.

Our tailored programmes enable these individuals to develop both artistic techniques and also transferable work skills such as effective communication, time keeping, team work dynamics, coping with interview situations, dealing with customers and social and independent living skills.

Rowan's success lies in engaging our students in a social enterprise which

- provides valuable work experience and high quality accredited training for participating students excluded from educational and employment sectors
- raises confidence and self-esteem of individuals too often believed unable to do most things on their own
- develops tools for independent living
- promotes self-expression and encourages discovery and development of latent creative skills & other talents
